

Dr's Lee Morris and Carly Fedorka PhD will discuss effective non-antibiotic new treatment options for endometritis in mares which will improve fertility and reduce the risk of Antimicrobial resistance.

New treatments for the problem mare - an update from International Symposium Equine Reproduction (ISER)

Dr Lee Morris - BVSC DVSC DIPACT, Registered Specialist Veterinary Reproduction

Lee is the Director of EquiBreed NZ specializing in advanced fertility treatments for mares and stallions. She has just returned from Cambridge England where the 2018 ISER was held. Lee will discuss the status of NZ uterine bacteria, treatment options for endometritis and an update from ISER.

Mycobacterium cell wall extract used to treat endometritis - Settle

Dr Carleigh Fedorka – PhD, Gluck Equine Research Centre, Lexington

Carleigh is exploring the relationship between the immune system and reproduction. She will discuss the results of research on the immune modulating product - SETTLE used to treat endometritis in the mare.

When: Tuesday 28th of August

Where: Onyx Bar, 70 Alpha Street, Cambridge

Time: 6.00pm - Presentation's start at 6.30pm

Nibbles and drinks generously supported by NZTBA